FROM FATHER FENLON

VISITING HOMES

The word 'parish' comes originally from the Greek Paroikos, which is a composite of two words: Para and oikos. Para, in Greek has a wide variety of meaning, but in this sense means 'Among' or 'Between'. Oikos means 'the house'.

A 'Parish priest' is that priest who lives amongst the houses – he is a missionary in a foreign land, because the priesthood in its beginnings was lived out in monasteries, and in the desert, away from the sin and the noise of the world. But a parish priest is different. He is amongst the people.

From this fundamental reality stem many different and beautiful traditions that have evolved over the centuries. Today I would like to present one of them: the priestly visit.

One of the duties, and glories, of a parish priest, is to know and love with a pastor's heart his parishioners. To do this, I would really appreciate the chance to visit with you all, in your homes preferably, or on parish grounds if you feel uncomfortable with that.

The two minutes that we try to cram in of personal time at the end of Mass just do not cut it – it cannot compare to the conversation, the friendship and the dynamics of sitting down and conversing with ample time.

Whilst I can reach out to and speak with you personally – and that's already happening as I spend more time here – we are providing a sign up sheet at the back of Church to make sure that EVERYBODY gets the chance to get to know their priest, and for him to get to know you too. See you soon!
