Commandment of the Month for January The 6th Commandment "You Shall Not Commit Adultery"

What are you doing to protect the children in your life from being victims of the temptations and confusion of today's sexualized culture? Their very lives and souls are at stake. Therefore, we can't continue to hope they learn the truth about the sacredness and purpose of their body from they TV and social media. Instead, we need to take meaningful and appropriate steps to inform and protect our children and grandchildren. Here are a few steps you can take.

1. Make the decision to not shy away from conversations about sexuality with your children and grandchildren. They are going to learn about it somewhere, so wouldn't it be better for them to learn the holy and sacred purpose of sexuality from you.
2. Refresh your knowledge of the Catholic teachings on the goodness and purpose of human sexuality.
3. Be intentional to have age-appropriate conversations about their bodies with them. Instead of focusing on inappropriate behavior, highlight how their bodies should be honored, revered, and safeguarded. Use the analogy of how they honor and safeguard their most prized possession, such as autographed baseball or an heirloom from a favorite grandparent.

PSR/CONFIRMATION ANNOUNCEMENT

A MESSAGE FROM OUR PASTOR

FR. KEVIN DREW

St. Irenaeus & Deuteronomy

You shall do nought but make merry ...

I told you to make merry during January. And that was what Moses told the Hebrews during their time of exile: You shall make merry at your feast, together with your son and daughter, your male and female slave, and also the Levite, the alien, the orphan and the widow who belong to your community. For seven days you shall celebrate this pilgrim feast in honor of the Lord, your God, in the place which he chooses; since the Lord, your God, has blessed you in all your crops and in all your undertakings, you shall do nought but make merry. (cf. Deut 16:1-17)

There were sacrifices among the people of Israel; there are sacrifices in the Church ...

St Irenaeus (d.202 AD) noted in Against Heresies that the sacrificial feasts of the Jews did not end with Christ's death and resurrection. They were transformed by the new Moses into the one perfect and eternal sacrifice:

The oblation of the Church, which the Lord taught was to be offered throughout the whole world, has been regarded by God as a pure sacrifice, and is acceptable to Him. Not that He needs sacrifice from us, but the one who makes the offering Himself receives glory in His offering, provided that His gift is accepted. Through a gift both honor and love are shown to a king.

We must offer God the first fruits of His creation, as Moses said: You will not come empty-handed into the presence of the Lord your God. In showing gratitude to God for His gifts man is to be accounted pleasing to God, and so receive the honor that comes from God ...

It is not oblations as such that have met with disapproval. There were oblations of old; there are oblations now. There were sacrifices among the people of Israel; there are sacrifices in the Church. Only the kind of oblation has been changed: now it is offered by freemen, not by slaves ... The Church alone offers this pure oblation to the Creator when it makes its offering to Him from His creation, with thanksgiving ...

Not just a symbol, but the non-corruptible flesh and blood of Christ ...

We offer Him what is His, and so we proclaim communion and unity and profess our belief in the resurrection of flesh and spirit. Just as bread from the earth, when it receives the invocation of God, is no longer common bread but the Eucharist, made up of two elements, one earthly and one heavenly, so also our bodies, in receiving the Eucharist, are no longer corruptible, for they have the hope of resurrection.

Why we must appear before the Lord at Holy Mass ...

Moses told the Hebrews: Three times a year, then, every male among you shall appear before the Lord, your God, in the place which he chooses: at the feast of Unleavened Bread, at the feast of Weeks, and at the feast of Booths. No one shall appear before the Lord empty-handed, but each of you with as much as he can give, in proportion to the blessings which the Lord, your God, has bestowed on you.

And Irenaeus (a disciple of Polycarp, who was a disciple of John the Apostle), echoed Moses:

We must make oblation to God, and in all things be found pleasing to God the Creator, in sound teaching, in sincere faith, in firm hope, in ardent love, as we offer the first fruits of the creatures that are His.
